

It's Not About The Gear – Not!

A Photo Workshop with Kas Stone

Thursday February 23, 2017 from 6-8 PM

Thomas H. Raddall Public Library
145 Old Bridge Street, Liverpool NS

We have all heard that successful photographs depend more on vision and artistry than on camera gear and technique. But it is also true that the necessary starting point is actually having a camera and knowing how it works. In this workshop – which is indeed all about the gear – professional photographer Kas Stone demystifies the overwhelming array of digital cameras available today, explaining their features and differences to help you determine which camera, lens(es) and accessories may best suit your needs.

This workshop is designed for newcomers to photography, or people looking to invest in new photographic equipment for improved performance. Bring your camera (if any) and questions (no question is "too stupid"!) to this informative session.

The workshop is free, but seating is limited and registration is required. To register please telephone the Thomas Raddall Library at 902-354-5270. For more information visit: www.kasstone.ca.
